

Don't revert to the cruelty of the past

Shooting and electrocution
of flying-foxes were banned
after they were found to be inhumane.

The LNP plans to allow
farmers to kill again.

Most shot flying-foxes die
slowly of their wounds.
Their babies starve to death.

Please tell the LNP Queenslanders don't support animal cruelty.

Dear Campbell Newman,

I abhor animal cruelty.

Shooting and electrocution of our native
flying-foxes have been assessed by animal welfare experts and found to be inhumane.

Please do not return Queensland to the barbaric practices of the past by allowing farmers to shoot or electrocute flying-foxes.

Farmers have more effective and humane choices for crop protection.
